

GETTING TO KNOW OUR MEMBERS ...

IT'S ALWAYS FUN TO MEET NEW PEOPLE AND CATCH UP WITH OLD FRIENDS ...

This month we hear from Melissa Walker, a Stitchers Village member from Texas, USA. Here is Melissa's story about her work on 'And They Sinned' (ATS) by Exampplar Dames.

Melissa started ATS back in late 2007 and she takes up the story from here ...

After seeing many, many beautiful examples of ATS I was very inspired. And I'm not sure where the idea came from, maybe from viewing pictures of antique samplers on the web but I decided to make ATS a tour de force of specialty stitches. And to make it singularly and obviously my own.

Just the sheer size of this sampler makes it exceptional but that wasn't enough for me, so I set about stitching it my way. Whenever and wherever the mood strikes me I add a specialty stitch.

My vine border is made up of cross and leaf stitches. The sun peeking out from behind the cloud is filled with rice stitches. (On 36 count I will never make that mistake again - I joke that it must have taken me 18 hours just to fill that bit in.)

My butterflies are stitched over one. The eyes of the peacocks' tails are Jessica stitches. I've added fangs to some of the snakes, and on all the snakes, their spots are specialty stitches too. The Tree of Life has my and my husband's initials "carved" on it. MW + AW. The six apples on the Tree of Life and the seventh in Eve's hand are Rhodes stitches.

Now, Adam & Eve. There I made a big change to the design. I decided that my Adam and Eve were to be anatomically correct. To do that I needed completely new figures. I found a pair I liked from another chart I owned but stylistically they were too different from the rest of the figures on ATS, so I re-charted them to fit the style. That only took a few afternoons and much pencil eraser.

In further personalization I've changed the verse to one that was on a sampler in a novel I read (Jennifer Crusie's 'Faking It'). It is much more 'me' and I think in keeping with the irreverent tone of what is actually a very serious example of my skill as a needleworker.

With ATS I've finally made good use of all the stitch guides I've accumulated over the years.

I've just past the third-way mark of the sampler and there is much more to be done. Maybe I'll finish by 2015?
