VOL 6 ISSUE 3 – MARCH 2014

March seems to be "coming in like a lion" for a lot of us. Let's hope this is the last hurrah for Winter! Think Spring!! And if you want to stitch something spring-like, the drawing for March will be Glendon Place's "Rainbow Parfait" chart with the thread pack. Simply send an email to: enter@stitchersvillage.com by March 31, 2014 to be entered into the drawing.

What are you currently stitching? I have discovered an adorable book of crocheted cocoons and am making one for my soon to arrive granddaughter. I have only basic technique skills in crochet as I am self-taught. I can generally figure things out, though, and found some lovely Caron yarn. Caron makes wonderful threads for stitching of all sorts. Their Waterlilies line are the first silk threads I ever used. The Watercolors line is for canvas work and they have an Impressions line that is silk and wool and it is so soft. The colors are beautiful and they have both solid color and over-dyed.

Hope to see you in the social area!

Spam

Recently, I have received a number of email messages from members that were obviously spam, as the body of the message contained nothing but a link. I would like to caution you on this growing problem. You should never click on a link in an email unless you are certain the sender intended for you to. This may require you to call or email the person, but these links are usually suspicious enough that you know something is not right.

Spam was sent from my Yahoo email account recently. Worrying that my account had been “hacked” I signed in with no problem. This was contrary to what I believed would happen. I thought that the hacker would have changed my password so that I would no longer have access to my account. This was not the case. I contacted my technical support service and was directed to change my password and to check the mail options in my account. I also ran extensive scans for viruses and malware. Apparently, the hackers sometimes “linger” in your account if you do not change your password. They may also have changed your mail options so that your email is forwarded to another address.

I can not imagine that there are so many people out there attempting to hack our email accounts. It would not seem to be an easy way to glean email addresses for their spam. We all enjoy our online time, so be safe and alert to possible intruders.
